SETTING THE STANDARD FOR COMMUNITY HEALTH.

Community Health Center Network (CHCN) is committed to excellent, affordable care for underserved communities of the East Bay. We are a non-profit Medi-Cal managed care organization, providing business administrative support for community health centers to focus on what matters most—patients.

We are 8 health centers in Alameda and Contra Costa counties in 80+ locations with 400 primary care providers and 1,100 specialists, bringing 100,000+ health plan members the BEST CARE AT THE RIGHT TIME.

THE SMART APPROACH TO COMPASSIONATE CARE.

As a premier network of health centers and specialists, CHCN is poised like no other to serve communities in the East Bay. With cultural and linguistic competency and more than 80 neighborhood locations, our health centers and specialists are the providers of choice.

Data analytics, case management, specialist contracting, insurance processing and advancement of clinical best practices are what we do to drive better health outcomes for patients with the most complex needs. CHCN leverages all the components of smart care:

- REDUCE ER visits and readmissions through nurse case managers.
- CONNECT patients to a range of specialty care through contracting.
- BROKER services for our highest need patients through community partnerships.
- INFORM practice through clinical quality and financial data reporting to health centers.
- FOSTER a provider learning community, including Continuing Education Unit offerings.
- SUPPORT growing teams of case managers and community health workers.

Community Health Center Network was formed by our member health centers in 1996 to support health centers in a rapidly expanding managed care environment. Its sister organization, Alameda Health Consortium, was founded by community health centers in 1974 to support advocacy, health insurance enrollment and service coordination for uninsured and low-income communities.

CHCN is a designated Innovation Hub, an initiative of Center for Care Innovations with support from the California Healthcare Foundation, and one of four national Technology for Healthy Communities pilots.
